Possibly the greatest compliment I've received came one day a few years ago.

I was obviously up for "transfer" during one or more current controversies and perhaps said the upteenth scrap might be the last.

And this person, this remarkable person said: "If you move, we move too." Not meaning the same place, I'm sure.

That was before tennis became a competitive release and some light began to show at the end of that proverbial tunnel.

It's the kind of thing you remember.

Those poor devils, those political and economic and social adversaries over the past dozen years with their heads in somebody else's cloud trying to pipe their own tunes and searching the lexicon of the diatribe, must be disappointed at how things are turning out in Milam County.

About to open a new jail, site bought nearby for a new city hall, the two separated by that grand old Victorian monstrosity which will be an excellent museum, Alcoa projecting a three-year building program, farmers having a grain alternative once they would have snubbed, aren't things turning out terrible?

115-115-115

One of the reasons all this is in the future, built on what this town and area have done in recent years, is that youth would not respond in kind to some of the character assassination that went on.

Oh, some of it continues. But it is merely entertaining now. Because the "mouths" are empty and must taste a lot like tobacco wrinkling to maturity along a dog trail, however that might taste.

All that is and has developed was obviously going to happen when nothing of substance was offered from the back bench, other than heat, even gas and no light.

I delight in debate, in the plan and the execution of a plan. And I could never, and never will, understand how people could so preoccupy themselves with diminishing a plan and an antagonist they made an antagonist while knowing little if anything about him.

In a sense they are as responsible for all the change nobody wanted here for three generations because it became to some a matter of honor, sometimes, like who was going to get to open the peanut butter jar for a snack after school.

This attitude brought us all to a banquet of development, possibly more than the most optimistic, myself included, would otherwise have anticipated.

But things "seem to work out," and bedamned if all the screaming and shouting aren't hurrying us along toward the 21st century.

Slogan For City To Be Announced In Mall Program

The slogan contest sponsored by the Ladies Committee of the Cameron Chamber of Commerce is completed and a winner has been selected.

On Saturday morning, October 5 at 10 a.m. the new slogan and the winner will be announced during a presentation program on the mall in downtown Cameron.

The winner will be presented $100 in prizes from 15 sponsoring businesses. In addition to the announcement of the new slogan for Cameron, there will also be a musical number presented by Mrs. Maurina Corley and an artist's conception of the new slogan.

All contest entrants and interested citizens are urged to be present, however, for those unable to come the program will be broadcast over KMIL radio.

Entries Varied For Arts, Crafts Show

Pre-entries in the first annual Cameron Arts and Crafts Show and Sale October 19 indicate something for everyone's taste, including taste buds.

Art displays will range from delicate water color canvases to metal art and bronze sculpture. In the crafts division booths at City Park will feature hand-crafted jewelry, plaster art, individually designed purses, macrame and decoupage. Specialty decorator booths will include patchwork, terrariums, silk and fur flowers, dried flowers and woodworking.

In the historic park pavilion food concessions will include Dean Trubee barbecue, homemade desserts and soft drinks.

A special feature of the Arts and Crafts Show will be exhibits and demonstrations at the Public Library across from City Park.

Demonstrations will include spinning by Carol Landherr of Temple, weaving by Mary Jo Stroup, macrame by Betsy Brown, knitting by Jeff Graham, china painting by Duffy Caperton, chair caneing by Mr. Inn-man of Temple, and for the sportsman, Don Humble will demonstrate fly tying.

Entries for the Arts and Crafts show have come from Texas and Oklahoma. Booths will be open from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. Saturday, October 19. Special parking for visitors will be marked on lots adjoining the First Presbyterian Church and across from the park.

The Arts and Crafts Show and Sale has been listed in the October Texas Tourist Guide which is circulated statewide, included in metropolitan newspapers tourist events columns and is scheduled for special focus on television shows in Temple, Waco and Austin.

4 Charged In Robbery Of Hitch Hiker

Three Cameron men and one man from Burlington are in county jail after being arrested and charged with robbery of a Lake Jackson soldier Friday.

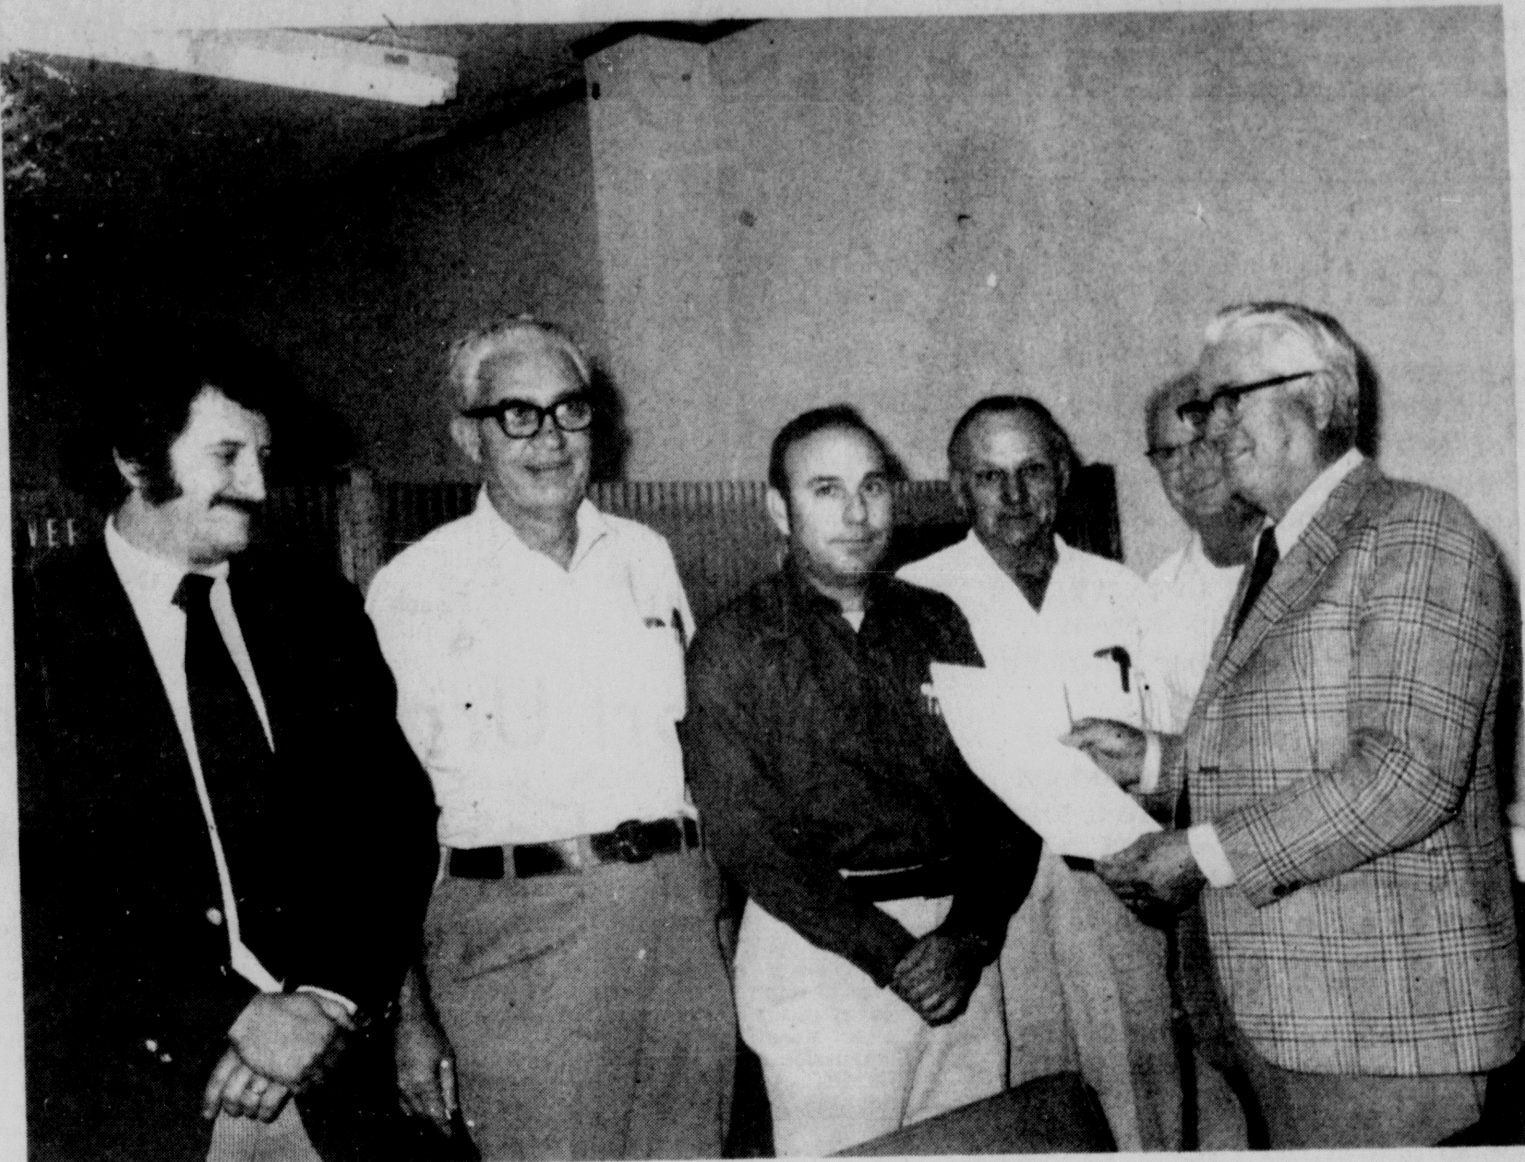

The men were identified by the sheriff's department as Stanley Edward Debose of Cameron, Willie Lee Nelson of Cameron, Jim Brown of Cameron and Nolan Webb of Burlington.

They were charged in Justice of the Peace court for the robbery of Donald Menizes, of Lake Jackson, a soldier who was hitch hiking home when he was picked up by the four men between Cameron and Milam Friday.

Menizes told Sheriff Carl Black that the men took his billfold and a ring. He said the billfold contained no money.

Sheriff Black arrested the four men in Rockdale Friday afternoon.

CITY COUNCIL joined Mayor Gene Blake, right, in proclaiming "United Fund Week" in the city. From left are City Atty. Ed Magre and councilmen Lawrence Zotz, Ernest Moore, Lincoln Mondrik and Gene Lumpkin. A drive for $10,000 for United Fund is starting in Cameron next week.

Ft. Hood Man Dies In Collision On Highway

A major traffic accident resulting in the death of a Ft. Hood soldier early Monday morning brings the traffic death count for Milam County up to four for the year.

Local police also reported two accidents in the city over the weekend, with no major injuries.

David Lee Perilloux, 20, a Ft. Hood soldier from Louisiana, was pronounced dead at the scene of an accident at 4:45 a.m. Monday by Milam Justice of the Peace Jim Swanzy.

Highway patrol troopers Jerry Benson and Don Wardlaw, both of Rockdale, investigated the accident which occurred three miles south of Milam on State Highway 36.

Perilloux's car was in collision with the rear axle of a truck tractor driven by Riley C. Walker of Belton. The truck was traveling south while the soldier's car was traveling north on the highway at the time of the collision. Driver of the truck was not injured.

Police investigated an accident in the city at 9:30 a.m. Sunday when five people were sent to local hospitals following the collision of two cars at the intersection of Fourth and Fannin.

Drivers of the two vehicles were identified as Mrs. Annie Urban of Rt. 1, Cameron and Robert Frank Tepe of Rt. 3, Rosebud.

Only minor injuries were suffered by drivers and passengers in the cars.

The other accident occurred at noon Sunday when a car driven by Roselynn Rhodes of Freeport collided with a parked car owned by Elzy Harris of Cameron. The accident happened at Sixth and Washington.

No injuries were reported.

Council Votes Increase In Utilities

Utility rates for the city are going up starting with November billing following action by the city council Tuesday evening. The increases were proposed in a report drawn up by councilman Bob Clark and adopted by the council.

Rates for garbage pickup will increase from $2.75 to $3 per month; sewer rate will go from $1 plus 25 cents for every additional bathroom to $1.25 plus 50 cents; a water tap will go from $17.50 to $40; sewer tap from $25 to $40; charge to reconnect water after it has been cut off will go from $1 to $5; and water rate will increase to 40 cents for each additional 1,000 gallons over 3,000 gallons.

Increased costs of operations for utilities was cited as reason for the increases.

In other business, council heard a lengthy report from Gene Lumpkin, who, along with Ernest Moore, has drawn up ambitious plans for a street program, with the aim being no more dirt streets in the city of Cameron. A complete recommendation and comprehensive plan will be offered to the council at a future meeting.

An engineering survey of the area in northeast Cameron that has drainage problems will be worked out with survey work being done by a Waco firm for the Community Development Agency. Council voted to turn the project over to the agency for incorporation in its overall plans.

A new system using a card file will be set up to plan a priority list of work for the city to be done after authorization by the council. Councilmen agreed that too many times work is authorized which seems to get lost between approval and carrying out of the project.

Councilmen discussed the problem of a caretaker for the park system. The present caretaker at Wilson-Ledbetter Park is at retirement age and a full-time caretaker is needed.

The owner of Bailey Trailer Park appeared before the council and spoke about a drainage problem in the area of the park which is in the maintenance barn vicinity. Works Supt. Bill Dase was instructed to survey the situation.

Council voted to put on a seal coat and repair Milam Ave from 6th to 8th street where it was torn up when the storm sewer was installed.

Supt. Dase reported that all buttons have been placed on streets in the urban renewal area except for the west side of North Houston, and that new school signs have been installed.

4-H Clubs Mark Special Week

National 4-H Week will be celebrated in Milam County next week by some 400 youths involved in 12 different clubs throughout the county, and will be climaxed by an awards banquet set for Saturday, October 12 at Methodist Fellowship Hall, Cameron.

Besides the great number of youngsters involved in 4-H, there are 75 volunteer leaders working with the 4-H's under the direction of county agents Chris Holcombe and Rodney Kruse.

Mrs. Holcombe outlined a year's events which had 4-H'ers competing in various events on up to the state level, where several members won places in those contests.

In January the annual Milam County Junior Livestock Show drew over 150 entries, with Milam 4-H'ers walking off with many of the top honors. January also saw members preparing for area shows and working on demonstrations and food and nutrition projects.

February brought the San Antonio Livestock Show with various entries from Milam County.

March was a busy month with the Houston Livestock Show, county 4-H foods show and the county elimination contests. A total of 50 took part in the county food show and 35 prepared demonstrations.

District competition was the theme for April. The Ben Milam Gun Club participated in the district rifle contest; the Horse Club participated in the district horse judging contest and 60 Milam County 4-H'ers, parents and leaders attended the District Contest. A total of 12 seniors qualified for state competition.

Broiler show and Rural Life Sunday were topics for May. The month also featured the Rosebud-Lott Area Livestock Show, with several participating from the county.

June saw 19 members, parents, leaders and agents head for State Roundup. Several members won first places with others also placing in the state contests. June also had the dress revue with 50 participants. Other 4-H'ers participated in the camp at Junction, the district leadership lab, and junior field days.

July was record books, camps and dress revues. Camp was held at Trinidad and the district horse show was also held with several members entering. Two members represented the county at the 4-H Club Congress in Dallas.

August was the time for summer activities.

In September, clubs were busy planning programs, exhibits, Mr. and Miss activities, and plans for the national week.

October is recognition month in 4-H. The banquet will be held Saturday with top awards being presented and Mr. and Miss contest winners announced.

So, 4-H is continuing to progress in Texas. Programs are providing more learning and leadership experiences for youth so that they will be better equipped to take their place in the world.

NATIONAL 4-H WEEK is proclaimed by County Judge O. B. Harden while members of two of the county's 12 clubs gather around. These youngsters are members of the Cameron and Buckholts 4-H Clubs.

City Budgeting Smooth...

Advantageous sales tax and revenue sharing dollars enabled the City of Cameron to budget last fiscal year and carry over about $52,000 into the new budget.

Total budget is up about $25,000 over 1973-74. Evaluations are up about $450,000 to $8.5 millions.

A lot happened in 1973-74. The city did a lot of downtown work which is generally completed so that residential street programs can resume.

The street department in fact has a budget of $94,000 up $17,000 over the past year, marking increases in costs.

City Council shows a grasp of getting a good deal from local taxes. Without sales taxes of about $70,000 and revenue sharing, it would be more difficult to carry on the improvements now underway in a number of city departments.

Lesser items, but ones which will reflect modern technic is a $2,000 item for new record system and $2060 for mall area Christmas decorations, which will dress up the holiday downtown.

It looks like things are going smoothly at City Hall.

Lasting, Somewhat...

Fidel Castro is saying he wants better relations with the U. S.

This means Fidel's country is isolated in the Western Hemisphere, particularly during detente with the Soviet Union, which has been stabilizing Cuba's economy.

But it means his experiment is not working half so well without the U. S. as a market for Cuban sugar and other products. He has been unable to persuade the rest of Central and South America they should import communist revolution.

Because Cuba is surviving, but economically insufficient, he will be amenable to additional contacts which could be beneficial to the U.S.

Castro was apparently warped by apparent CIA involvement in Chile. CIA people tried to eject him after the 1959 revolution he and Che Guevara led.

Che incidentally went back to South America to lead another revolt, leaving Castro with the lack-luster task of making it last. Which it has, somewhat.

"Low Down"
FROM THE
Congressional Record
By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

Senator Gale W. McGee (Wyo.) "... As an original sponsor of S.329 - the world food resolution - introduced by my distinguished friend and colleague, Senator Humphrey I am deeply concerned over (a) problem which is rapidly assuming disastrous proportions. ... Recently The New York Times published an article... by James P. Grant, President of the Overseas Development Council... The article was ordered to be printed in the Record." (Excerpts follow):

While We Fertilize Golf Courses

(By James P. Grant)

Through an agreement between the fertilizer industry and the Cost of Living Council to increase supplies in the country, the United States discouraged new export contracts during most of the 1974 crop year, which ended June 30, and used the threat of further price controls to keep supplies at home. Shipments of fertilizer under the United States aid program (has) virtually dried up.

For every dollar's worth of nutrient the poor countries are denied this year, they will likely have to import $5 worth of food next year. This is a losing proposition that these countries -- many of which are already at the economic breaking point -- can ill-afford.

Meanwhile was the world's caught in a critical shortage of fertilizer for food production, and as we restrict our exports of fertilizer and food, Americans are applying some three million tons of nutrients to lawns, gardens, cemeteries and golf courses -- more than used by all the farmers in India, and half again as much as the current shortage in developing countries.

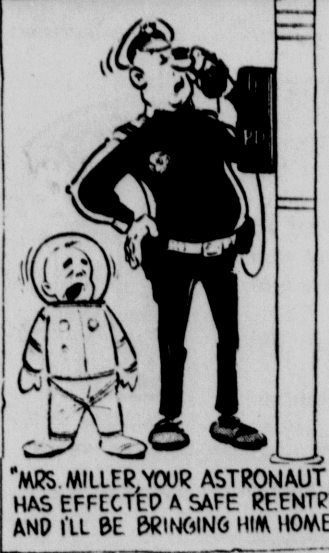

A sense of priority and some active leadership is badly needed from the executive branch of our Government. It should follow the call by numerous Senators and Representatives early this year for a Presidential appeal to the American people to reduce non-essential uses of fertilizer, just as we were asked to turn down our thermostats and slow down our cars.

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

Anyone who believes the 55 mile an hour speed limit is being observed has not been doing much driving. Item: Arabs have once again raised the price of crude oil from which much of the fertilizer is produced.

Report Urges Spending Funds For Transportation

Texas governmental units need to spend $852 million over the next five years to improve transportation systems, according to a Texas Mass Transportation Commission staff estimate.

A TMTCC preliminary development plan proposes $566 million worth of rail system improvements and construction and $286 million for bus systems.

The state, the report concluded, must come up with ideas for moving an increasing number of travelers among major cities by rail, new expressways paralleling existing ones or other means.

If travel increases as fast as expected, according to one authority, traffic on Interstate 35 between San Antonio and Dallas may be as congested by the year 2,000 as it is on the Gulf Freeway in the Houston area.

Cost of developing mail passenger facilities presents a generally unhappy picture. Railroads, according to TMTCC Director Russell Cummings, are not enthusiastic about starting up new passenger service or turning their tracks over to any agency for passenger hauling in conflict with their freight business.

Only 18 cities in the state still maintain transit systems, as compared with 37 such systems 20 years ago, TMTCC was informed. But use of transit systems is expected to increase three-fold by 1990. Buses are projected to handle 75 per cent of the future load, rail systems 18 per cent and "specialized systems" seven per cent.

LEASES TAKE UP—Cash bonus payments totalling more than $7.8 million reached the state Permanent University Fund from a recent oil and gas lease auction on University of Texas-owned lands.

More than 123,540 acres were leased for oil and gas exploration. With deposits of the cash bonus payments the Permanent University Fund increased to $678,332,143.

Biggest areas of interest were Loving and Ward counties.

Superior Oil Company paid the largest cash bonus—$810,000 for a 640-acre tract in Ward County. Chalfant, Magee and Hansen were successful bidders on a 320-acre tract in Ward and Loving counties with a $435,000 cash bonus.

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong, chairman of the Board for Lease of University Lands, said increased demands for energy are being reflected in all public land lease sales.

INDUSTRIES INCREASE—Thirty-one new industries with a combined annual output of over $8 million located in Texas during August.

Total economic impact of the 31 firms was estimated by Texas Industrial Commission and the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research at more than $129 million a year.

The 31 new industries are expected to generate $7.7 million a year in federal taxes, $550,943 in local taxes and $502,943 in state taxes, and to create 1,743 new jobs with a spinoff of another 2,243.

The industries located in Alice, Amarillo, Athens, Austin, Port Arthur, Brownsville, Center, Coe Creek, Channelview, Del Rio, Diboll, Freeport, Houston, La Porte, Laredo, Longview, Lufkin, Madisonville, Mineral Wells, Mount Pleasant, Rocksprings, Texarkana, Wharton, Weatherford and Wichita Falls.

DPS LOOKED OVER—A Senate sub-committee began its hearings on rights to personal privacy and Department of Public Safety surveillance activities involving private citizens.

DPS Chief Col. Wilson Speir agreed the legislature should furnish guidelines, but he warned against restraints so strict as to interfere with law enforcement efforts.

ENROLLMENT UP—Statewide enrollment at Texas colleges and universities is up about five and a half per cent above 1973, far above the national projection of a 1.3 per cent nationwide increase.

Preliminary tabulation shows total enrollment of 549,830 students at Texas public, private, junior and senior institutions. This is 28,300 more than the fall semester of 1973. Two hundred and seventy five thousand of the students are attending public senior colleges, 201,400 at public community colleges.

Even the private institutions in Texas are growing. Their total enrollment of 70,800 represents a 1.4 per cent increase over the 1973 headcount. About 10 of the 37 may experience some decline in enrollments. AG OPINIONS—Voters who participate in party primary elections are not eligible to sign applications of independent candidates for the office sought are made in primaries, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

• State employees who leave their jobs before completing six months' service are eligible for no accrued vacation time.

• State licensing of private child care facilities does not sufficiently implicate the state in the policies of the institutions to make their discriminatory practices a "state action" for constitutional protection purposes.

• Receipt of guaranteed annual wage payments does not render an individual out of work ineligible for state unemployment compensation.

• When an employee given a merit pay raise is promoted, funds become available for merit raises to others in the agency.

• Director of the Division of Parole Supervision is not the executive head of a state agency, and the Board of Pardons and Paroles is legally responsible for his conduct.

• County clerks have no authority to issue certified copies of letters testamentary.

OLD

Dear editor:

I knew the times were out of joint but I didn't know how far--even if a steer on the hoof does bring only 20 cents a pound at the ranch and $2 a pound three months later at the supermarket--until I read last night what's happening in the newspaper business.

According to it, one of Canada's largest producers of newsprint, the paper you print The Herald on, has just raised its price $25 a ton, making it the fourth raise this year and bringing the price up to $260 a ton in carload lots.

But what caused my mind to flip over backwards was the response of another paper company when it learned the Canadian firm had upped the price. "This is a highly competitive business," it said, "and if one goes up in price and can make it stick, the other companies usually follow."

You can see how far behind the times I am. I didn't know that competition now means you have to charge more than the next guy to keep him from getting all the business. This sounds like I've got it backwards but that's exactly what the paper company said. To meet competition today you've got to raise your price every time somebody else does, particularly if he can make it stick.

There's the point. If he can make it stick. And with the psychology of inflation what it is, he probably can. Raise the price--who knows, the public may grumble but still go ahead and shell out. Let's everybody get ahead while we can, then if a depression hits we'll be in good shape.

Sooner or later somebody's going to have to throw a monkey wrench into this spiraling system, but the trouble is very few companies are now making monkey wrenches and the few that are made are sky high and a man would have to think twice before throwing one.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Lawyers To Work For Bicentennial

Texas lawyers will play a major role in events during the next two years to be climaxed with the country's Bicentennial in mid-1976. State Bar president Lloyd Lochridge of Austin said today.

The Bar's Bicentennial Committee, headed by Odessa attorney Lucius D. Bunton, will coordinate the appearances of lawyers before public, school and other groups throughout the state to discuss the early history of American lawyers and their part in constructing the framework of freedom. Lochridge said. Requests for speakers may be made to the Bicentennial Committee at State Bar headquarters in Austin.

Last year 3,100 people stayed at the beach. Permanently.

Of course they all drowned.

But then, another 55,600 Americans were killed in motor vehicle accidents. And 17,600 died from falling. Fire claimed another 6,300 lives.

The figures go on and on. But maybe you get the point.

Don't let us hear about you by accident.

Add Beef Short Ribs To Cookout Repertory

In the wide open western cattle country, cooking outdoors is an everyday thing, and women are aware of the many flavorful beef cuts from which to choose for a cookout. Here more than steak goes on the grill, as a ranch cook knows that less tender cuts make great fare when first braised.

Short ribs are such a western favorite. To obtain maximum tenderness, it is best to cook them slowly in a covered heavy pan or skillet right on the grill over low heat, according to Reba Staggs, National Live Stock & Meat Board home economist. The meaty ribs are then ready to receive a zesty barbecue sauce while broiling.

Lone Star Short Ribs

3 to 4 pounds beef short ribs
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 teaspoons salt
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
1/4 cup catsup
1/4 cup brown sugar
1/4 cup vinegar
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
1 tablespoon chili powder

Place short ribs in covered frying-pan on grill or range and cook at low to moderate temperature, for 1 1/2 hours, turning occasionally. Season with salt and pepper. Combine tomato sauce, catsup, brown sugar, vinegar, mustard, onion, garlic and chili powder in saucepan and simmer 5 minutes, stirring to blend. Remove each short rib from pan, dip in sauce to coat all sides and place on grill over ash-covered coals. Cook at low to moderate temperature, brushing with sauce and turning occasionally, for 20 to 30 minutes or until done. 4 servings.

Roast Leg of Lamb Outdoors or In for Spectacular Dining

Is an occasion for special entertaining coming up? Here's a tip for a spectacular table presentation. Put a leg of lamb on the rotisserie rod. Lamb is traditionally served well done in America—cooked to an internal temperature of 170°F. as measured by a roast meat thermometer. Many diners now, however, are following the lead of gourmet cooks who prefer their lamb medium (160°F.) or rare (140°F.).

A boneless leg of lamb is a fine choice for the rotisserie. It's a bit more tricky to balance a bone-in leg on the rod, but it can be done. Check balance by rotating in the palms of hands.

Reba Staggs, home economist of the National Live Stock & Meat Board, recommends that lamb be roasted at a moderate temperature on the rotisserie over ash-covered coals or in an oven set at 325°F. For a 4 to 7-pound boneless leg allow 25 to 30 minutes per pound for rare; 30 to 35 for medium and 35 to 40 for well done. For a bone-in leg allow 20 to 25 minutes per pound for rare; 25 to 30 for medium

Out of strife comes comradeship. Out of depression comes hard work, hustle and unusual stories.

For example this story is frequently told about the man that was out of work, his family were on meager meals and he needed to restore his finances. He had asked for a job unloading a boat load of anvils and was turned down with the excuse that they had all the men they needed.

He watched for a while and observed that each man would pick up one anvil and walk off the boat down the gangplank with it. He needed the work, so he decided to try it. He approached the foreman and said, "Where each of your present men are carrying one anvil, I'll carry two."

Of course he was put to work and all day he would pick up an anvil under each arm and walk off the boat, down the gangplank and down to the wharf. The foreman realized he had a man that was doing twice the work of the other men and at the same pay.

Finally late in the afternoon the man carrying two anvils fell off the gangplank into the water. After some considerable thrashing around he hollered up to the foreman and said "If you don't give me a hand I'm liable to drop one of these anvils." Now that's getting with it.

The other day, Saturday to be exact, I had a bulldozer operator down at my place who hadn't worked in quite a while. We were going to do some work on a levy so we could divert some creek water. A dark ominous looking cloud came over the horizon. It started raining. He slipped a slicker and a hard hat on and kept rolling just as long as his tracks would grip. Finally he had to give up and quit.

I actually had a carpenter apply for a job the other day.

At the Auction barn there is absolutely no demand for any kind of cow brute of any age that has to be fed or kept for a while.

You take a good 600 pound fat killing calf and they want him.

Another barometer of the times will come next Spring. You watch and see if there is any demand for a bunch of baby chicks, straight run that is an equal number of pullets and roosters. You'll know right then that we are reverting right back to the days of the 1930's when we produced most of what we ate.

For the first time in years we are going to see a demand for some ribbon cane sorghum to plant in the sandy land. We will have really reached the height of getting with it in years gone by when you hear of a young housewife asking the Home Demonstration Agent in the County for a biscuit making recipe.

By the way, how long has it been since you've tried sharecropper gravy with butcher knife beat fried round steak? Your taste buds won't be too disappointed with that kind of fare at the dinner table. One thing more, kids will grow up with a lot of respect for the older folks when they have to start eating at the second and third table again too. They will then be seen and not heard.

There's just not as many decided teenage opinions when the belly is empty. That's another ham in the smokehouse.

In some parts of rural England, it's believed that fat from the snake that bit you will cure snakebite.

A&M Sets Fruit Conference

Growers of peaches, apples and grapes should all find topics of interest at the upcoming Texas Fruit Conference and Short Course at Texas A&M University.

The event is set for Oct. 8-9 in the Rudder Conference Center on the A&M campus.

According to Dr. Arlie Powell, program chairman and horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, key topics will concern new peach varieties, cold protection for fruit orchards, new pesticide laws and regulations, cotton root rot control, apple and grape production potentials and problems, and effective marketing of produce.

The Harvester and Sure-crop varieties of peaches are new and appear to have potential for Texas, says Powell. These are excellent producers with good bacterial spot resistance and will be discussed in detail at the conference.

The technique of sprinkling fruit trees to reduce freeze damage in late winter and early spring will also be discussed along with handling the brush problem after pruning peach trees in the winter.

All fruit growers should be especially interested in the various changes that have taken place regarding the use of pesticides in orchards, points out Powell. Control of cotton root rot in peaches, apples and grapes will also be discussed.

FIRE ANT COLONY CALLS IT HOME--Around 100,000 fierce fire ants may live in a mound of this size which begins with one queen and takes three years to reach two to three feet in height. According to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, the ants infest more than 20 million acres in Texas. They can ruin pasture and hay, destroy small animals and have been known to attack human beings.

County Agent's Notes

4-H News

By Rodney Kruse

The Countys' 4-H Swine management contest is off to a pig squealing start with four 4-Hers wanting to win first prize.

Participants are Curtis Wise, Lisa Cobb, Donnie Czaplinski and Beverly Jones. The contest is sponsored by the Milam County Farm Bureau incorporation with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

In 1973 these 4-H received a crossbreed gilt and are now raising a litter of pigs. Curtis is raising 13 pigs, Lisa 9, Beverly 8, and Donnie 6 pigs.

The contest purpose is to give recognition to 4-H members who do the best job feeding and management of their gilt and litter.

Last years judge, Henry Richter, determined the county management winners by number of pigs weaned per litter, litter weight at 56 days, feeding and management of gilt and litter, sanitation, disease and parasite control and the records on gilts and litter.

Prize offered by the Farm Bureau are first $15, second $10, third $7 and fourth $5.

After 56 days, one superior gilt is selected by the County Extension Agents and given to another 4-Her who starts the care of the gilt again. Also a County Gilt Livestock Show in January with prize money furnished by the Farm Bureau.

Farm Records Important

By Bill McCutchen

What does it cost you to produce 100 pounds of grain sorghum? Can you produce 100 pounds of beef for $30? Answers to these questions will be discussed October 15th in Cameron.

Using records in improving your efficiency is more important now than ever before. Today's rapidly changing prices of production items makes identifying costs critical to good management. Protection records on each crop and livestock enterprise enables farmers to decide which farming practice is profitable and how he should change his operation to make more money.

The use of records in decreasing income tax liabilities and improving relations with agricultural loan agencies will also be discussed.

The meeting is sponsored by the Agricultural Committee of the Cameron Chamber of Commerce and is open to all, throughout the county. Speaker will be Don Parks, Area Extension Economist, Management from College Station.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. Place will be announced later. Hold this date on your calendar.

Pecans Beginning To Hull
Some of the earlier pecan varieties have been hulling for about two weeks or more but most varieties will be hulling shortly.

The pecan crop varies tremendously over the county with some orchards having up to a 60 percent crop and others almost completely failing. The county should average about 25 to 40 percent of a full crop this year.

As pecans begin to hull, I would like to encourage you to save a quart of the best nuts from your favorite tree or trees for the Milam County Pecan Show. Tentative date for the show is November 9th in Cameron.

I would like to remind you that if you are to have a pecan crop year after year, you must protect the pecan foliage from diseases, and insects. This is the only source of carbohydrate to mature this year's crop and to provide storage carbohydrates to initiate next years. Good healthy foliage up to the first killing frost will virtually assure you of a pecan set next spring.

Screwworm Cases Climb To 2,046

AUSTIN--Through the end of July, Texas had recorded 2,046 confirmed cases of screwworms as compared to 634 cases for the same period in 1973, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has announced.

White added, however, that officials of the U.S. Department of Agriculture Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service believe the eradication program is holding the population of wild flies in check this year.

In the late summer and fall of 1973, a massive infestation of Gulf Coast ticks in South Texas predisposed thousands of wounds for screwworm infestation. The result was a major factor in the total of 7,793 cases in Texas from August through November of that year.

In contrast to that extremely wet season, this season has been dry in South Texas and along most of the coastal areas that were so heavily infested.

Screwworms are the parasitic larvae of the screwworm fly which lays its eggs on the edges of wounds in warm-blooded animals. The pests are extremely destructive to the cattle industry. As larvae hatch, they enter the wound to feed on living flesh.

The pest is eradicated by releasing millions of sexually sterilized flies over infested areas. Sterile flies for the current eradication effort in the Southwest are produced at Mission, Tex.

According to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, slightly more than half of the potatoes sold for human consumption are processed, with 40 percent going into French fries.

YOU OFTEN hear it said that Texas has become urbanized, and it is true. The urban influence, especially, in politics, is dominant, yet agriculture is the basis of our country's wealth and probably always will be. The large towns have many of the people who used to live on farms and ranches of this State. What is not realized so readily is that they get a large share of their income each year from agricultural products. For example, Neal R. Peirce said in his "The Great Plains States of America," published in 1972, that Harris County (Houston) ranks second in Texas in the number of cattle, the region provides nearly 30 percent of the national rice production, and the Port of Houston gets more than half of its annual tonnage from farm products! Most of the exported cotton that is grown in the Lubbock area (another city dominated by agriculture) goes out through the ports of Houston and Galveston, creating thousands of jobs in those communities. The late, great Jesse Jones, one of the developers of Houston, once said that "cotton and cattle kept it (Houston) rich..." The same story is true in Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio Corpus Christi, El Paso, and other big cities. Dallas ranks fourth in the Nation as a cotton market and farm implement center. Even though the big cities have paved over many of the acres in their counties, most such counties still produce crops and livestock. For instance, in 1970, Harris County produced crops and livestock valued at $22,497,000, El Paso County $21,728,000, Bexar County $21,626,000, Nueces County $19,149,000.

RAIN HAS perked up pastures over Texas and made it easier to send cattle into the winter months in good condition. Good pastures also possibly affected the number of cattle on feed during August. Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service reported that there were 1,760,000 head of cattle and calves on feed September 1, which is 24 percent below a year ago and two percent below the previous month. Texas feeders put 264,000 head into lots in August, which is 28 percent fewer than in August, 1973 and 23 percent fewer than in July, 1974. During August, there were 299,000 head of fat cattle sold, 16 percent below August, 1973 and eight percent below July, 1974.

THE USDA reports that it expects its new screwworm fly production plant in Tuxtla Gutierrez, Chispas State, Mexico to be in operation by mid-1975. The 10-member Joint Mexico-U.S. Commission for the Eradication of Screwworms inspected the new construction earlier in September. The site is in southern Mexico where it is hoped the two countries can establish a "barrier zone" of sterile flies which would prevent the threat of reinfestation of screwworms in this country and in Mexico.

DESPITE RAIN, harvest of all crops is progressing well over the State. The rice harvest (first crop) is practically over, and corn and sorghum harvest is about 50 percent complete. A few fields of sorghum on the High Plains have been harvested. Cotton harvest is about 20 percent complete over the State compared to about eight percent at this time last year. Cool weather has slowed cotton maturity on the Low and High Plains, but picking is almost over in the Coastal Bend area. Peanut harvest, at 23 percent complete, is slightly behind what it was at this time last year. Seeding of a new crop of wheat is over 30 percent complete, and of a new oat crop is over 20 percent complete. Land preparation and planting is underway in the Rio Grande Valley for the fall and winter vegetable crops.

TEXAS' PECAN crop is expected to be 35 million pounds, and if that prediction proves correct that would be a 75 percent increase over the 1973 pecan crop. The best set apparently is in the San Saba and Cross-Timbers areas, ranging from moderate to heavy. The East Texas pecan crop is expected to be light, and the South Central Texas crop is expected to be from poor to good. Last year's onslaught of walnut caterpillars, which denuded many pecan trees, had a very adverse affect on this year's pecan production... Sugar cane production in Texas is expected to be 980,000 tons compared to 734,000 tons in 1973. That production will be from an estimated 28,000 acres, compared to 18,600 harvested last year... During the week of August 18-24, there were an estimated 263,000 persons working on Texas farms and ranches, a drop of seven percent from the previous month. Of that total, 83,000 were hired laborers and the remainder family laborers... Peanut production in Texas is estimated to be 454,500,000 pounds, compared to 471,225,000 pounds last year.

BETTER PASTURES can be expected to mean that there will be fewer cattle on expensive feeds. The cost of production for farmers and ranchers has risen faster than the output of crops, curtailed in Texas by drought. There has been a dramatic rise in export orders for grain (corn and sorghums) and soybeans, according to a recent issue of the New York Times, and that probably means even higher prices of production for farmers as well as higher prices for consumers. Foreign buyers are trying to fill their needs before prices of grains and soybeans go higher, apparently. These sales are sparking debate over export controls and requests from the Federal government for exporters to cut their purchases. The reduced production now expected from crops will have a direct effect on the Nation's balance of payments, and it is having a direct effect on Texas farmers' decisions on whether or not to keep that beef cow through the winter or sell her before she has to be fed.

TWENTY-FIVE counties in the Lubbock area of West Texas grow more cotton than any other similar area in the world, probably. Last year was one of its best years, but this year farmers there are recalling 1971, not one of the better years, when only 1,280,000 bales were harvested. During August 1971, a total of 4.15 inches of rain fell on a promising crop of cotton. More rain and cold weather came in September of that year. Light frosts came September 19 in the north edge of the cotton area. Cotton yields went down to 264 pounds an acre. Before August 24 this year, there had been a total of 4.40 inches of rain, and the farmers who were plagued with drought before the rains started are remembering all too vividly the 1971 circumstances. Howell's "Cotton Letter," printed in Lubbock, summed up the situation this way, however: "There has been nothing in modern times to compare with those conditions (in 1971). And there certainly is no reason to believe the stage is set for a repeat performance this year."

Richardson, Stott Recite Vows Here

Miss Linda Carol Richardson and Thomas Edward Stott III were joined in marriage Saturday evening in the First Baptist Church of Cameron.

Parents of the couple are Dr. and Mrs. S. H. Richardson of Cameron, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Stott II from South Egremont, Mass.

Rev. James E. Lafferty performed the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Hilliard Thomas of Cameron was the organist and vocalist was Jack Terhune.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore an original peau de sole. Venice and Brussels lace trimmed the molded empire bodice with portrait neckline and lantern sleeves. Lace scalloped the hemline with a sweep train. A Venice lace coiffure held a cathedral Brussels lace mantilla.

She carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses, English ivy and baby's breath.

Maid of honor was Ann Marie Richardson, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Vicky Compton of Temple, Molly Patteson of Temple, Mrs. David Laich of Houston, Pat Smith of Hobbs, N. M., Mrs. Douglas McFarland of Buckholts, Diana Stott, sister of the groom, of South Egremont.

The attendants wore floor-length gowns of pink dotted swiss with a floral design over satin with matching hats.

Bestman was Charles Pruitt of Temple.

Groomsmen were David McCromick of Libertyville, Ill., Carl Winterton of Killeen, Ronald Richardson and Jerry Richardson, brothers of the bride, Terry Dougherty of Ohio and Gary Quinn of Nebraska.

Lisa Heltman of Cameron was flower girl and Brian McFarland of Buckholts was ring bearer.

Ushers were Gary Hornung of Cameron, John Ure of Killeen, and Frank Rychlik of Chicago, Ill.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Richardson chose a floor length Paris pink crepe maracaine dress with V-neck. The jeweled empire bodice featured a jacket edged in jewels. Mrs. Stott wore a floor length teal blue crepe dress with jeweled empire bodice and jacket.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the Cameron Country Club. Patricia Wieser registered guests.

The bride's table was covered in white tulle over satin and held a silver punch bowl and hurricane lanterns. The three-tiered wedding cake was trimmed with pink roses. The groom's table was laid with brown linen and held a wedding ring German chocolate cake. Brass candles and punch bowl completed the arrangement with a champagne fountain to the side.

Music was furnished by Little River--Jerry Richardson, Chris Perrin and Mark Hensley.

Members of the house-party were Tommie Nicholson, Mrs. Charles Pruitt, Merle Lucko, Janet Harwell, and Mrs. David Jarczewski.

Out of town guests included Dr. and Mrs. E. O. Smith Jr. of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. David Laich of Houston, Kendall Smith of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Case of Wichita Falls, Mrs. Erma Richardson of Wichita Falls,

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Hallgrimsen of Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Case, Debra and Dan of Temple, Mrs. J. L. Case of Rockdale, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Stott Jr. of South Egremont, Diana Stott of South Egremont, Mark Jennings of Graham and Mrs. Heidi Nicholson of Austin.

The groom's family was host to the rehearsal dinner at El Chico's in Temple.

MRS. WILLIAM JOE KOTRLA JR.

Miss Kuhn, Mr. Kotrla United At Seaton

Miss Vicky Lane Kuhn and William Joe Kotrla Jr. were united in marriage Saturday afternoon in the Seaton Brethren Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Willis M. Kuhn of Temple, formerly of Cameron, and Mr. and Mrs. William Joe Kotrla of Temple. Grandparents of the couple are Mrs. and Mr. O. A. Folschinsky of Cameron and Mrs. Annie Kuhn of Cameron and Mrs. Joe Pechal Sr. of Temple.

Rev. Eugene Kotrla of Pasadena performed the ceremony. Tommy Holtman of Temple was organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal A-line silk organza gown. Alencon lace trimmed the empire bodice with a high ruffled neck and bishop sleeves with ruffled cuffs. A lace topped flounce hemline swept to a full chapel train. A pearl beaded alencon lace Juliet cap held a chapel English net mantilla outlined in matching lace.

Mrs. Rickie Hairston of Temple registered guests.

Miss Jackie Terhune of Cameron was maid of honor. Mrs. Brenda Barton of Cameron, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Kay Boden of Pasadena, Mrs. Diane Kotrla of Temple, Miss Beverly Wolf of Rosebud, Miss Joann Dudley of Richardson, Miss Pam Watkins of Rockdale, Mrs. Kathy Schneider of Temple, Mrs. Doris Holtman of Temple, Miss Connie Lucko of Temple and Miss Linda Pechal of Temple. Denise Kotrla was flower girl and Scottie Hoelscher was ring bearer.

Best man was Daniel Kotrla of Temple, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Tommy Barton of Cameron, Tony Lynn Hoelscher of Westphalia, Larry Pechal of Temple, David Ondrasek of Westphalia, Ricky Watkins of Cameron, Joseph Kotrla of Temple, Michael Schneider of Temple, Marvin Holtman of Temple, Ruel Hoelscher of Westphalia and Gary Kotrla of Temple.

Ushers were Ronnie Dornier and Gaylon Gerengross both of Rosebud and Wilton Marek and Linhard Pechal both of Temple.

Candlelighters were David Wayne Folz of Cameron and Kenneth Dudley of Richson. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and baby's breath centered with a white orchid.

Serving in the house party were Mrs. Betty Sue Watkins, Mrs. Merlene Bravenec, Mrs. Lillian Hoelscher, Mrs. Patsy Roesler, Mrs. Bernice Folz, Mrs. Denise Kopriya, Miss Monica Miller, Mrs. Jane Evans, Mrs. Louis Merosky, Mrs. Henry Bravenec, Mrs. Deborah Lehmann, Mrs. Ed Skrabanek, Mrs. Blanch Wolf, Mrs. Sue Eanes and Mrs. Charli Motl.

The groom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal dinner Friday night at Seaton Brethren Church.

After a wedding trip to Disneyland in California, the couple will live at 1113 S. 39th St. in Temple.

The bride is a 1972 graduate of Yoe High School. She is presently employed at Cen-Tex Insurance Co. in Temple. The bridegroom is 1969 graduate of Rogers High School. He is employed by the Austin Fire Department and Brown Electric Co. of Temple.

New Courses To Be Offered At TJC

Two continuing education courses, jewelry making and knitting, are scheduled to begin next week at Temple Junior College, Douglas Ferrill, Director of Continuing Education and the Evening Division, has announced.

Jewelry making, a course which will cover basic techniques of jewelry design and centrifical casting, will be held from Oct. 2-Nov. 6, Ferrill said. The course will cost $13 plus $10 for materials. This will cover the cost of one silver ring. Instructor for the course will be Joyce Eberts. Scheduled to meet on Wednesday evenings from 7-10, the course will meet in Room 709 at TJC, Ferrill said.

Pearl Woodruff will teach the knitting course, a course which will include the study of the different stitches in knitting. Students will make a scarf in the course and must have a size 8 knitting needle and 4-ply thread. Beginning Oct. 1, the course will continue through Oct. 29, and will meet Tuesdays from 7-9:30 p.m. in Room 304. The course will cost $8.25, Ferrill said.

For more information on these and other continuing education courses, persons should contact TJC, 773-9961, Ext. 66.

The Yoe High footballers have gained state recognition this past week. The Yoemen have been ranked number 2 in the state four 2A clubs. After their strong defensive play against the Big Red Belton Tigers, the eyes of the state sports writers were opened. After having an open date, the Yoemen must ready themselves for district action this Friday night when they travel to Leander to meet the Lions.

Cameron doesn't stand alone in state ratings in our district. The Hearne Eagles have also gained respect of the sports writer and have been named in the state's top ten.

It is hard for an average ball team to come back from an open date and display the same attitude they had before the week's vacation. There is no worry by the Yoemen fans as everyone knows that this year's club is no average group of men. Although it is tough for teams to keep their spirits and mental attitude up the Yoemen realize there is a lot at stake this Friday night.

In the years past, the Leander Lions have been a push over, but that attitude is changing in their growing city. Many upsets have been scored in the past week's action and everyone is out to defeat a highly ranked team. This has happened to the University of Texas and several other high school college and pro teams.

The Yoemen must learn how to live with recognition as being the second strongest team in the state.

It is tough to be recognized in the states top ten but even tougher to maintain the rating. Every team the Yoemen face will be out to spoil their state ranking. Glamor comes with the prestigious ranking but hard work and sound mental attitudes are a must in keeping it.

In visiting with Coach Cauley, the excitement of the #2 state rating was visible. The head coach had the following remarks about this Friday's game, "We are now starting 7 crucial ball games. I don't think there is anyone we can't beat and I don't think there is anyone that can't beat us. The attitude of the school and the town will have a lot to do with the way things go." Cauley continued, "The team is dedicated to bring a district championship to Cameron. But they will be only as ready as the student body and the towns people make them. We, the coaches, want everyone to share and have part of this season."

Leander Lions On Test Friday

Leander Lions have been known for losing the past three years. The Lions have only been able to chalk up 3 wins in the past three years. With a new coach, Steve Maver who has guided several losing clubs into victorious ones will have his work cut out for him during his stay in Leander. Maver philosophy is "The harder you work -- The harder it is to surrender."

This Friday night the Yoemen will face a new team spirit and a new team pride. The Lion team returns 3 offensive and 3 defensive starters back from their 1-9 season last year. The only experienced holdovers from last season are the quarterback Bubba Glosson and running back Danny Goodrum. The depth of this team is thin this season but is in a critical building stage. The Lions must build this season because in two years the team will move a slot forward into 3A territory.

The offensive interior line averages just over 181 pounds. The backfield weighs an average of 159. They have only two seniors on the starting offense, Bubba Glosson QB and Ed Vincik the split-end.

Reconstruction is underway in Leander but the signs of improvement haven't been displayed thus far. The signs probably will not be visible for quite sometime. The team has been rated next to Manor who is in last place.

Experience and leadership are two qualities the Lions haven't developed. Their quest for victory is evident and a win over a top ten team would be the catalyst needed to reignite the interest for a thirsty team.

Murray-Go-Round

OU WINS ANOTHER:

Three years ago, one University Texas Assistant Football coach said of the just completed recruiting season: "Well, recruiting sometimes gets down to guess. If we guessed right, we'll be all right. If we didn't..." he said in one of those perfectly acceptable incomplete sentences.

"Take tackle, for instance." The UT Aide continued. "We chose between Monohans' Eddie Foster (6-4, 235) and Plano's (6-3, 230). We think Crowell will be better of the two. Oklahoma did just the opposite. They went after Foster. Well, if we guessed right Crowell will be the better football player."

Today, Eddie Foster, at 6-4 and 250, is one of the country's premier offensive tackles at Oklahoma. Crowell did not make it at Texas and slipped away to North Texas State.

Chalk up one more Oklahoma victory over Darrell Royals' University of Texas as coaching combine.

QUICKIES:

One question. Did the NCAA go after Oklahoma as persistently as it has SMU in the latter's stepping outside collegiate grid rules of behavior?...Speaking of the Sooners, consensus of those who've seen 'em early in '74 is they may have a chink in their armor in the defensive secondary. Does any college team in America have two more talented defensive tackles than Houston's Wilson Whitley, 265, and Lee Canito, 225?

Like that comment by one female A&M Athletic Exc following the LSU victory: "The Aggies are coming out of the woodwork, they're so excited..." Inference to the sudden emergence of Emory Bellard's Aggies as a national football power. Have you noticed that, as always when a team goes bigtime, many of its integral players did not arrive on campus as graduates of some successful schoolboy football factory? You call that good recruiting. Take, for instance, Offensive Tackle Glenn Bujnoch, 6-5 and 240, out of Houston's tiny Catholic Mt. Carmel. That isn't to be confused with Odessa, Permian.

Women Golf Group Has Meeting

The Women's Golf Association of the Cameron County Club met Tuesday, Oct. 1 with 13 members present and Janis Turner, president, presiding.

Four golfers went to the Briar Crest Country Club in Bryan including Lucille M. Monroe, first flight low net; Carolyn Smith, second flight low net; Laurette Chandler, third flight low gross; and Peggy Smith.

The club welcomed new members Sherrian Hobbs, Shirley Kelm and Laurette Chandler.

Committee appointments made by the president are: Alma Bush, reporter; Laurette Chandler, handicapper; Alma Bush and Carolyn Smith, social; Lucille Monroe, ringers tournament; and Ruby Arledge, May tournament. Ladies play day is Tuesdays at 10 a.m.
